New office expansion enables SimekScott LLP to accelerate growth and more efficiently serve their west coast clients.

San Francisco, January 8, 2018 – SimekScott, a leading multistate tax consulting firm, today announced plans to expand its office footprint to San Francisco. California is one of the priority markets for the SimekScott firm. In addition to the corporate headquarters in Chicago, Illinois and their east coast offices in New York City, SimekScott's new office in San Francisco's Financial District will enhance service to their west coast client base and continue to support the firm's growth strategy.

"This represents a strategic development for SimekScott. We are excited to have a new west coast office where there is a dynamic and thriving business environment, with complex state and local tax issues. Expanding our presence into San Francisco will allow us to have a more centrally located west coast group to deliver specialized state tax solutions to our ever-growing clients," says Eric Drew, West Coast Office Managing Principal SimekScott.
